

5 Surprising Reasons Why Baby Souls Want to Come to Earth

★ ★ Welcome ★ ★

There are so many reasons why bringing a baby into the world right now seems like a bad idea. We are living in unpredictable, confusing and chaotic times and no-one knows what tomorrow might bring, let alone for the birth and the future of our babies. Have you ever wondered why on Earth you would invite a baby onto the Earth?

And while uncertainty is very real and valid right now, there is an intriguing part of this picture that we rarely consider – the baby's plan...

Consider these questions:

- Why do babies want to come?
- How long do they want to stay here for?
- What is their purpose and plan for their life's journey? (hint: it may not be what we envision or wish for them!)
- What are they here to build, create and change on the Earth?

Each baby is a wholly complete soul, here to experience the world in human form and when we see their journey through their soul's eyes, we gain insight into their answers to these questions.

So, I invite you to sneak a peek into their soul-centred world to find out why babies are choosing to come to the Earth right now.

Their unconditioned, candid, yet honest wisdom may just surprise you!

To Experience the Physical

Imagine living in the desert where you're used to extremely hot, dry temperatures. But one day you decide to expand your horizons and fly to Antarctica.

It is freezing cold and your teeth chatter. The icy wind rips right through you and you can no longer feel your nose, or your toes. You realise it's going to take some time to acclimatise to this new environment! But you also remember you're just here for a holiday, to explore and to experience a new way of being.

A few weeks later you return to the desert, pleased to be home, but grateful for your experiences in Antarctica. You continue to live in the desert and fly to Antarctica for holidays. But then you decide that you want to learn how to fish through those little round holes in the ice like the locals. So, you decide to move to Antarctica to find out how they do that.

Now let's put this into the context of baby souls. They live in the spirit realm, a place of formlessness and unconditional love, but it's familiar and it's their (desert) home. And so, they make a conscious choice to take a holiday to Earth, a place of density, fear and conditions to expand their horizons (like Antarctica). Sometimes their Earth holiday is just for a few weeks, to check out the place and see how it feels. Other times (perhaps after a holiday or two first), they choose to make the move and stay.

And what an incredible gift a Mumma gives to these baby souls, to use her womb as their penthouse suite? How exquisite and selfless is that Mumma soul?

To Establish New Ways

Baby souls are “holidaying” on Earth more than ever right now. This is because the types of baby souls who are choosing to incarnate are “different”. They have different perspectives, different ways of thinking, different ways of being and different ways of communicating with the world around them. They are bringing with them the wisdom of the ancients, which expands well beyond the ancient Earth.

The babies coming right now are brave – they are the changemakers for our future. They are here to teach us new ways of being, rather than us teaching them how to be. The tides are turning. They are choosing parents who are just as brave as they are. Parents who are not only open to the changing tide that is here to swamp humanity right now, but those who also chose to be here as part of its rebuild.

Imagine a world where we as a collective think differently, feel differently and are more in touch with our soul-self than ever before...?

To Return to Multi-Dimensionality

Our soul-self is that eternal part of us that moves between dimensions. It's our spiritual core, our true nature, our essential self. This energy never leaves us but carries with it the imprints from our experiences wherever and whenever we incarnate. Our soul-self is our vehicle to travel between the spirit realm, Earth, our dreams and meditation states. And if you're able to stretch your mind even further, it exists beyond planets and stars to the very edges of the cosmos.

Trying to pour our soul-self into a body is like trying to merge a 6-lane highway into a single lane of traffic. It's no easy feat! In fact, the easiest way to deal with this energy shift is to pretend that the 6-lane highway does not exist. As humans, most of us are born knowing, but are conditioned to forget our soul-self pretty quickly from a young age. And then for many of us, at some point in our lives, we not only remember it again, but we learn to live from within it.

Today's babies are a little different. Not only are they pouring more of their soul-self into their human body, but they do not forget. They land here on the Earth, often quite disorientated from their journey from the desert to Antarctica, but essentially arrive as their fully knowing, fully remembering, multi-dimensional selves. Their 6-lane highway may just merge into 4-lanes. This faster, more flowing traffic, may feel busy, and even overwhelming to these sensitive souls as they learn to be here on the Earth.

They bring their fullness, their wisdom and their ways into the world. If noticed, understood and nurtured, they can adjust to the Earth and remind us to do the same...

To Heal Our Ancestry

This is a natural progression from the previous three reasons. Today's baby souls are doing life differently to previous generations. They're the black sheep, the round pegs in the square holes, the ones who carve out their own path.

They're seen as "different" when it comes to the majority. But these babies are not here to fit in, to do what's always been done. They're not here to follow the crowd. They're here to break the patterns. To end the cycles. To create new cycles. To establish new patterns. And they are not afraid to do so. They have a sense of spiritual sovereignty that many of their ancestors did not (or could not).

Perhaps you recognise yourself in these qualities?

Perhaps you're already one of these souls?

Perhaps you've already arrived here to start the process, to buck the trends and to prepare and pave the way?! In fact, you are who many of these baby souls have been waiting for!

To Play!

The previous four reasons are serious business! If these were the only reasons babies were coming to the Earth, then they could be in for a pretty rough ride!

But this new wave of babies are also here to play with the Earth – its energy, its density, its form. This is essential for their balance – the yin to all of their yang, the light within some deep soul growth, some joy alongside the hard yards.

Being a soul in a body means to feel. It means to embody the full spectrum of life. Literally being “in body” allows souls to experience physical sensations that they would otherwise be unable to feel in spirit.

The baby souls coming now are also here for the simple things and the wonder of nature. They are very connected to the natural world. They're here to feel the heat from the sun warming their body's skin. To feel the wind rustling through their hair. To feel the dirt and the grass under their feet. To pick a flower off a tree and stare at it like it's the most beautiful thing that ever existed, because right there in that moment, it is.

Let them play!

★ ★ About Lauren ★ ★

Having spent the last two decades working as a NICU nurse, I've had the honour of caring for over 7,000 babies who have had the toughest, most traumatic birth experiences requiring intensive care. After becoming physically and emotionally burned out, I took a “career break” to travel and began to study different spiritual teachings and healing modalities.

I soon felt the call to return to the nursery and it was here that my spiritual studies collided with my nursing world and I began to see, feel and hear babies in unique ways. I realised babies could communicate telepathically and so I took the time to listen. Their wisdom challenged my beliefs around birth, NICU, social circumstances and even their death.

I am now committed to sharing babies’ wisdom directly with their mothers which provides a sense of peace, understanding, reassurance and confidence as they journey together on the Earth.

Want to find out more about the wisdom that babies have to share?
Check out the website here: www.bornenergy.com.au

These are the times that babies have been waiting for...
